MONDAY, May 24, 1773.

Monday last Capt. Calley arrived at Marblehead in 36 Days from FALMOUTH, by whom we are favoured with the following late Articles of Intelligence, viz.

LONDON, March 27.

YESTERDAY at 2 o'Clock the Lord Mayor, attended by Serjeant Glynn, Recorder, Alderman Bull, Mr. Sheriff Lewes, City Remembrancer, Common Serjeant, Town-Clerk, eight of the Livery, and the rest of the City-Officers, went to St. James's, where the Recorder read to his Majesty the Address, Petition and Remonstrance from the City of London: To which his Majesty was pleased to give the following answer.

"I have the satisfaction to think that my people "don't doubt of my readiness to attend to their com- "plaints, or of my ardent desire to promote their hap- "piness, which I cannot more effectually do, than by "resisting every attempt to sow groundless jealousies "among them.

"Your Petition is so void of foundation, and is be- "sides conceived in such disrespectful terms, that I "am convinced you do not seriously imagine it can be "complied with."

The King was attended by a numerous Court, and shewed very chearful; and before the Citizens were introduced to his Majesty, they were given to understand, that on such an occasion as the present, they were not to expect to kiss the King's hand.

Yesterday the Earl of Stormont took leave of his Majesty, and to-morrow will set out on his embassy to the court of France.

March 28. Letters from Paris say, that the court of Versailles only wait to receive some advices from the French Ambassador at Vienna, after which that Court will declare itself an enemy to the conduct of the three united Powers.

March 29. It is expected that Parliament will not rise, at soonest, till the 20th of June, nor, if punishments or public censures take place, till the month of July.

The famous alliance which is now almost concluded between England, France, & Spain, is universally allowed to be monstrous, and will certainly share the fate of all unnatural things: it is a monster, and cannot live long.

It is reported that the city Remonstrance is to be laid before a great Assembly.

The House of Commons, it is said, will prolong their Sessions till the middle of July, on account of thirty Bills still remaining for their consideration.

March 30. The present conduct of the French Ambassador and Ministry, with respect to the balls, brings to our recollection the expression of the King of Scotland: "We shall settle our state-affairs— "but first we'll have a dance."

Two Couriers arrived this day from the Continent with some Protest Remonstrances to our Court.

As a fresh stroke to public credit, a very eminent banker stopped payment yesterday.

April 3. We hear that Sir John Dalrymple has lately discovered some curious manuscripts, in the ruins of Herculaneum, by which it appears, that the old Greek and Roman patriots, were traitors to their country.

Whether that the bug-bear which the King of Prussia holds up continually to deter our King from interfering with the plunders on the Continent is, the ruin of Hanover. If Great-Britain makes one offensive step to interrupt that Monarch's views in this scandalous affair, he threatens, as his first stroke, to pour swarms of troops into Hanover. It appears that these threats are sufficient, for it has been determined in the British cabinet, that the division of Poland can be in no degree injurious to the interest of Britain.

They write from Paris that the Court of France has solemnly declared, that, if any Prussian troops march into Swedish Pomerania, a numerous army shall immediately set out for Embden, Friesland, and other places belonging to Brandenburgh.

We have the pleasure to inform the publick, that the Earl of Bellamont is perfectly recovered.

BOSTON, May 24.

"Next Thursday at Eleven o'Clock a Sermon will be preached before the Convention of Ministers at the Old South Meeting-House in this Town: The publick Services will be adapted for the Edification of Christians in general, and it would be very agreeable to the Ministers to see many of God's People come and join them in their publick Devotions; at the same Time there will be a Collection towards a proper Fund, the Annual Interest of which is to be appropriated for the Relief of the Widows and Orphan Children of Deceased Ministers in indigent and necessitous Circumstances.

The Charity of all good Christians is earnestly requested on this Occasion, and no Case is more Charity more Useful and Necessary, as every one must see, who will reflect on the very distressed Condition of the Families of many poor Ministers at their Decease; and that while they are chargeable Instructions for the Relief of the Widows and Children of Deceased Ministers of all Denominations in Great-Britain and Ireland, those of this Province are left, in a Manner, wholly unprovided for, let their Abilities be ever so great."

AS many of your Country Readers have been out of the Way of the Theatrical Amusements of the last Season, it may perhaps be some Entertainment to them to see a few Extracts from the Defeat, a Dramatic Performance lately exhibited. vid pa. 327

The Author has thought proper to give as a Prologue, the following Lines of a celebrated Writer.

O how I laugh when I a Blockhead see
Thanking a villain for his probity,
Who stretches out a most respectful ear
With snares for Wood-Cocks in his holy leer,
It tickles thro' my soul, to hear the Cock's, (7)
Sincere encomium on his friend the fox,
Sole patron of his liberties and rights,
While graceless Reynard listens—till he bites.

And dash my hopes beneath the dreaded wreck.
The trump of malice by my minions blown
Shall blast the laurels of the fairest name,
And stab the bosom of that patriot's fame,
Who dare oppose my arbitrary sway,
Or scorns to tremble at a despot's frown.
A feather bribes all, but the virtuous few,
I'll tinckle empty titles in their ears,
And browze the rattle for the crest of fools,
Lull the supine in thoughtless indolence,
And sink the claim of freedom, with a nod:
Nor leave a trace of all their boasted rights, (9)
For their depress'd, their drooping sons to view,
And point them back to what their fathers were.
But should the genius of their sleeping sires,
With anger'd brow, & threatned vengeance, rise,
Demand the reason of my cruel deeds
Bid me avow the black the guilty cause,
The traiterous purpose of my rankling mind,
That's hid behind a subtle meagre form, (10)
The soft smooth grimace of a pander's smile,
The oily droppings of a courtiers tongue,
I'll point them there——
(pointing to the Sum counted up before him.
Say who the lure of such a bait could stand,
Or who the glitt'ring sequins could resist,
Yet not an asper of the ample treasure
Shall e'er repair my shatter'd habitation. (3)
For this I'll squeeze the lab'ring Peasant's brow
And reap the ruin'd honest Traders spoils.
The orphans tears shall lend their wretched aid,
To rear a pile to glut my wild ambition:
Yet spite of pride, of avarice, or revenge,
I tremble at the purpose of my soul.
The wooden latchet of my door ne'r clicks,
But that I start—and ask does Brutus enter?
Or comes a Mucius, (4) in the form of Ludlow? (5)
——Ludlow (5)——————
I hate that curst Cromwelian signature. (5)
—————It augurs ill.——
I'll haste, repair, and gently strive to sooth
The Nobles of my Court, to base compliance,
To crush the brave, intrepid Hero's zeal, (5)
And still the pen of bold and dauntless truth.

The Scene changes to the Senate House, enter Proteus.
In his Hand a spirited Paragraph, just publish'd, censuring the Measures, and disclaiming the Authority by which the People of Servia are oppress'd.

PROTEUS.

Did mortal e'er behold such worth abus'd?
Rapatio sure is virtue's first-born son,
(Tho' I his slave at humble distance kep[t])
No sordid views contaminate his soul,
No rank ambition lurks within his breast,
A gen'rous ardour in his bosom glows,
To guard the sacred Rights of Servia's sons
The freedom purchas'd by their father's blood.

HONESTUS.

Why all this waste of words—why labours thus
Thy supple Tongue—who has aspers'd thy master?

PROTEUS.

The good Honestus—ar't thou Rapatio's friend?
And calmly asks—why all this fervid warmth?
Feel you no kindlings, for Rapatio's honour?

HONESTUS.

I feel for Servia's wrongs.

PROTEUS.

See there the darings (5) of licentious pens!
Shall we behold such Excellence traduc'd?
The great, the wise, the brave, discreet Rapatio
Let us support, or order's at an end.
The bands of government are loos'd at once,
Confusion, rage, and riot, hand in hand [...]

A Specimen of Political Spirit in olden Times.

The following extract from an old file of the Boston Gazette, of 1773, indicates that great freedom of speech was indulged in by the people of that day, and also that political rancor, even in these exciting times, does not surpass specimens of a similar feeling, antecedent to the Revolution. C

Who for a place, a grasp of shining earth, (6)
Has stab'd the vitals, that first gave him birth.
Shall Servia bleed, and shan't her sons complain,
While traitors revel o'er her children slain?
Go dirtiest dupe of all the venal race
Who sell their country for a pension'd place, (6)
Who barter conscience for a gilded straw,
Riot on right, and trample on the law. Exit.

End of the second Act.

The Scene changes, discovers Proteus in his own Apartment, in a trembling Attitude.

PROTEUS solus.

I've shifted, trim'd and veer'd to either side,
As changing fortune smiled on either party,
'Till neither trusts, or can in me confide.
My future game shall be to fawn on Pow'r,
And gain a smile on which depends my fate.
I'll cringe and court each ministerial tool,
With zeal redoubled, I'll extol each measure,
So keep my seat when a mandamus (5) comes,
Procur'd by serpentine manœuvres of one man,
To sort the sycophant, from men of worth.

The scene closes on Proteus.

After which several Tragical Scenes are exhibited, but we refer the curious to the whole Representation, as acted at the Head Quarters of the Bashaw of Servia, and proceed to the 3d Act, which opens

SCENE I.

Drums, Trumpets and several warlike Instruments without——

A Battle ensues, in which Rapatio, his Abettors and Creatures are totally defeated, after which Freedom and Happiness are restored to the Inhabitants of Servia, by the prudent and spirited Conduct of Honestus, Hortensius, Cassius Rusticus—and others.

But as this Entertainment is crowded with a Variety of interesting Events, we shall omit any further Extracts at this Time, except the concluding Scene of the 4th Act, where the Curtain draws up, and presents Rapatio to the Audience in deep mourning.

——Scaffold, — — Blocks, &c. &c.

RAPATIO.

Oh the reverse, the sad reverse of fortune!
Stript of my plumes, my plunder (1) and my peace.
Peace did I say! that gentle heavenly guest,
Has not resided in my canker'd breast,
Ee'r since my native Land, I basely Sold,
For flattering Titles, and more sordid Gold. (1)
The dreadful Curses of the Slaughter'd Dead,
Full vengeance pour on my devoted Head.
I fall unpitied not one weeping Eye,
Shall wail my Fate, or heave a Tender Sigh,
Had faithful Hazlerod (3) surviv'd my fate,
He would deplore my truly wretched state.
But he, with all my faithful favour'd band,
Who swarm'd as lice, o'er Egypt's blasted land,
And suck'd the blood, of their devoted prey,
As Egypt's locusts, now are swept away.
I now detested, shun'd by every friend,
A monument to after times I stand.
I plunge, I sink, Oh save me from despair,
What—do I hear?—is fierce Cerberus there?
The portals of the yawning pit he guards,
Where traitors doom'd, receive their just rewards,
Bold Hercules who div'd to Pluto's deep,
To fetch him out, or lull that fiend asleep,
Bids HIM attend when e'er a TYRANT falls,
Who ruin'd millions, and their race enthralls.

BOSTON, May 24.

As an additional Affront to the Feelings of his Countrymen; as an aggravated Outrage on the Sensibility, Humanity, Virtue and Justice of this People; as a Master Stroke of rancorous Enormity, to put to the Rack the most obstinate Quietist: BE IT KNOWN; that the cringing, smiling, fawning, bowing CHARLES FROTH, Esq; a Wretch, who from his earliest Puppy-hood, thro' the lingering Progress of a too long protracted Life, to a Period when he withers on the Crutch of Decrepitude, might challenge his recording Angel to produce one single Action, that sifted to it's Motive, would not effectually consign him to eternal Infamy (a); has, O! unparallelled Effrontery! O! the detestable Parricide! has appointed that execrable Villain, the condemned Vagabond; the rank, bloody, and as yet unhanged EBENEZER RICHARDSON (b) an Officer in the Customs in the Port of Philadelphia. And what is infinitely aggravating, and renders the Transaction much more atrocious; the (b) Murderer is distinguished by a particular Recommendation to the Collector and Comptroller of that Port; declaring the Miscreant to be a distinguished Friend to Government, a proper Person to be employed in the REVENUE, and ordering them to reward him with a Guinea per Week——As the said Ebenezer Richardson is now placed on the Ladder of Promotion, we may expect him one of the Honorable Board of Commissioners, in a few Years; where he may probably make as distinguished a Figure as the Rest of his BRETHREN.

Friday last Mr Hutchinson returned from his Tour to Hartford. We do not learn he missed his Way on his Return, 'tho' we are credibly inform'd his Coachman did some six or eight Miles in or near Needham, on his Journey from hence. NEW-LONDON, May 14.

Last Saturday, being Foggy, the Cruiser lay at Fisher's Island point—a Brig bound to Boston with a Load of Melasses, engaged her Attention, which she stopt, took out all her People but one, and moor'd the Brig in the open Sound, at dead of Night, sent a Boat to the Collector's to know if she was not a good Prize, but being informed to the contrary, they returned the People on Board, after having stolen and carried away two Duffil Great-Coats, two pair Duffil Trowsers, one Frock, two pair Oznabrigs Trowsers, and three Pillow Cases, which they stript off the poor Seamen's Pillows. She then came into the Chops of this Harbour, when a poor Oysterman, with an old Boat not worth 10l. engaged her Attention; the Oysterman was order'd to strike on Pain of immediate D——n, with all the Train of "d—n'd Rascals, Scoundrels," &c. and to come along side the Cruiser: The poor Man (having about ... Thus, America, is thy Parent Britain, with the Expence of Millions, now shewing to you her Splendour and Affection, that we may conceive some Idea of her Majesty and Greatness, so as not to contend for our inestimable Privileges; for this is to shew what we are to suffer if we attempt it! And thus by the greatest Mismanagement, are the Bulwarks of the English Nation, which in the Year 1759. gave Laws to the World, now made the pest of Society—her brave Officers discarded, and the most vicious, pitiful cowardly Scoundrels put in their place.

The Ship Hayley, Capt. James Scott, sailed last Tuesday for London: In said Ship went Passengers Capt. Grey of the 57th Regiment, and his Family. And,

On Friday Morning the Brig Dolphin, Capt. James Scott, sail'd for the same Port.

By a Vessel arrived last Week from Baltimore, in Maryland, we are informed, That a few Days before they Sailed, a couple of infamous Informers were taken up about five o'Clock, P. M. Tarr'd and Feather'd, and Carted about the Town 'till Night, for Informing against a Brig and a Sloop, and then ordered to depart the Town in 24 Hours. We hear they were genteely disciplin'd at almost every Part of the Town, and that they d——n'd those who were the Cause of their just Treatment.——The next Day it being reported they had return'd, diligent Search was made after them but to no Effect; and 'twas reported that they had set out for the supposed Receptacle for such Vagrants viz. BOSTON, where, no Doubt, from the pacific Disposition of the Inhabitants they will find an Asylum of Security.

We also hear, That the same Day a Negro was executed there, for striking his Master, and that the Executioner was a Person under Sentence of Death.

The wicked Statesman, or the Traitor to his Country, at the Hour of DEATH.

The VIRTUOUS PATRIOT at the Hour of Death

If Prayers and Tears th' PATRIOT's Life could save, None but usurping Villains Death would have.

IMPORTED from the Island of Jersey, a Number of Indented Boys and Girls, and to be Dispos'd of on Board the Brig Adventure, Clement Hemery Master, now lying off Rowe's Wharf;—some of the Boys are desirous of being Bound out to a Trade.

Mr. DELILE informs the Public,

That he has taken Lodgings in Cambridge, and intends to ſpend the preſent Seaſon there. He keeps at the Houſe of Mrs. Prentice, Widow of the late Caleb Prentice, oppoſite to the College, and will improve the Aſſembly Room for the Convenience of his Pupils.—He will come to Town every Week to teach the Gentlemen and Ladies who are learning under him, and thoſe who will apply to him, either in the Academy or at their own Lodgings.

Mr. Delile returns his moſt humble Thanks to the Public, for the Encouragement he has met with hitherto, he dares not ſay as an Orator, or as a Poet, but as the tendereſt Friend of his Pupils ☞ he would have already publiſhed his ſeveral Performances mentioned in the Papers of Meſſ^rs Fleet and Draper, if there had been a ſufficient Number of Subſcriptions, which he hopes there will ſoon be.

☞ What a needleſs Loſs of Time & Labour it is to go about Town, from North to South, cheapening of Goods, when we might go, with ſo little Trouble, to

JUST PUBLISHED,

And to be Sold by JOHN KNEELAND, next to the Treaſurer's Office, in Milk-Street.

An Impartial view, of a Narrative of the Principal Circumſtances relative to the late Rev. Mr. Weſley's late Conference, held at Briſtol, Auguſt the 6th 1772. &c. with the Declaration then agreed to by Mr. Weſley, and Fifty Three of his Preachers.

By the Rev. Mr. SHIRLEY.

In which the Reader is preſented with the Minutes of the Conference, the preceeding Year, which gave great Offence, as containing Juſtification by Works, and overturning the Goſpel of Chriſt; Lady Huntingdon's, and Mr. Shirley's Letters to Mr. Weſley, on the Occaſion:—And the Declaration which ſatisfied the Objectors.

The Author's chief Deſign is to ſhew, That the famous Declaration, declares nothing in Favour of Juſtification by Faith only, but is perfectly conſiſtent with Juſtification and Salvation by Works:—That Mr. Weſley never intended it as a Recantation of the offenſive Minutes; and conſequently, that the Joy that hath been occaſioned by it, and Mr. Shirley's Narrative, on the other Side of the Water, hath been only rejoycing in a Thing of Nought.

John Maud, Taylor,

BEGS Leave to acquaint the Gentlemen who are his Cuſtomers, and others, That he carries on his Buſineſs as uſual at his Houſe the North Side of the Town Houſe, in King-Street—Where all the various Branches of the Taylor's Buſineſs is executed in the neateſt Manner, with Fidelity and Diſpatch. And as he has now by him ſome of the neweſt Patterns, he flatters himſelf that no one can finiſh or cut Cloaths with greater Elegance and Taſte. With Gentlemen who do not chuſe to have their Cloaths Cut or finiſhed according to the height of the Faſhion, he will endeavour to obſerve a Medium, and will be particularly careful to follow any Directions given him. Regimental Cloathing, and Navy Uniform, he is well uſed to, having been employed theſe many Years by the Gentlemen of the Army and Navy. Any Cloaths which may happen not to fit, he will take back according to his former Advertiſement. Gentlemen will be waited on immediately by ſending Notice to the above Place.

Ezra Lunt,

BEGS Leave to inform the Public, That he has lately purchas'd an Intereſt in the Newbury-Paſſage, which has been lately fix'd on a new Conſtruction, in which he intends to improve four Horſes, which he will drive himſelf.——Therefore he flatters himſelf that thoſe Gentlemen and Ladies that will oblige him with their Cuſtom, will find more Eaſe and Pleaſure in their Paſſages to and from Boſton, than they did heretofore. As ſaid LUNT intends to obſerve Punctuality in his Buſineſs, therefore he begs that thoſe Gentlemen and Ladies that intend to be his Cuſtomers, would take Notice that he will wait on them for their Commands at his Houſe in Newbury-Port, oppoſite the Rev. Mr. Parſons's Meeting Houſe; from whence he will ſet out on Monday every Week, at Seven o'Clock, and puts up at Mrs. Bean's, at the Sign of the Ship in King-Street, Boſton; where all Baggage, Bundles, &c. will be received and delivered as directed, and Paſſages engaged. All Favours will be gratefully acknowledged. (u.)
